HOW IT GOES IN CHICAGO.

Painters Strike in Sympathy for Pullman Men and Pullman Strikers Take Their Places.

The Chicago papers tell of a huge but costly [illegible] played on a gang of painters who [illegible] gilt edged jobs with Kimball & Co. [illegible] quit work [illegible] of sympathy for the Pullman employes. It was purely a case of sympathy. The Kimball men had [illegible] grievance. They were getting good pay and steady work, but their sympathy for their suffering fellow workmen at Pullman was so deep [illegible] that they decided to quit [illegible] to help along the general strike and they walked out. The balance of the story is [illegible] by the Chicago Journal:

The chivalrous strikers were swelling around the Master Painters' headquarters immensely satisfied with themselves and Debsism, when their composure was rudely shocked by one of their number, who rushed in hatless and coatless with the appalling news that their places were being filled by the very men whose bacon they were trying to save.

It is said that some beautiful language permeated the ambient air in the next few moments and at a hastily called meeting of the men who had gone out it was decided to wrest their rights and positions from the treacherous Pullmanites.

Mr. Andrews of the Kimball firm corroborated the facts, but would not say how many Pullman men were at work in the places vacated by the devotees of the Debs movement.

"I am willing to admit, however," said Mr. Andrews, with a suspicion of a smile, "that some of the former employes of the firm found their places filled when they [illegible] to be reinstated. I regard the whole thing as a magnificent illustration of the folly of the original strike."

[illegible]

A great deal of bitterness has been created in the ranks of organized labor by the episode, and it is said that in several other instances Pullman strikers took advantage of vacated positions in various trades to secure employment. A grand row in labor ranks is freely predicted as an outcome of the Kimball affair. The men who were thus cleverly euchred out of good jobs are not as earnest advocates of sympathetic strikes as they used to be.

Officials of the Master Painters' Union are deeply chagrined that the story has leaked out, and refused to say anything about it one way or the other. But a master painter who refused to leave a good job chuckled to himself and said it seemed to him a clear case of "the striker striken."

AFTER THE "WAR."

Praise For the Decatur Military Who Did Good Work at Danville.

The return of the Decatur Guards last evening from Danville caused no little interest in the city. As the company marched to the armory, looking tired, dusty and sunburnt, they had every appearance of having been in active service while absent. Captain Colladay was about as tough looking as any of them, and like the rest of the boys he was anxious to get home so he could wash-up and renew his acquaintance with his family. In the armory was quite a gathering of friends to welcome home the boys in blue, and make them feel that patriotism and admiration for those called upon to uphold the law in the nation were not dead in this community. The Guards, like all other companies in the state, as well as the United States Regulars at Chicago, were the living, active and aggressive representatives of the laws of the state and nation, enacted to preserve the constitution and protect life and property, and in time of anarchistic demonstrations and troubles generally through which certain sections of America have just emerged, all law-abiding people are glad that we have courageous men in the state militia and in the U. S. A. who can be relied upon, come what will, to perform their duty fearlessly. No man wherever he may abide who has the good of the state and nation at heart, who is not a law-breaker or a would-be law-breaker himself who has a family to support and property to guard and protect, who desires to pursue his occupation peacefully year after year without listening to the hurtful doctrines of such men as Debs and other "walking delegates"—no such man has any fault to find with the massing of the militia at any point, no more than will any good citizen who is gratified to see the police suppress any local disturbance or capture a robber or barn-burner. The man who does the right thing and has respect for the laws of the land, never complains because efforts are made to enforce the laws.

Captain Colladay says the Guards had hard work at Danville. In the Grape Creek mining district the militia had to fight like Indians. They did not know the hilly country with which the miners were so familiar, and consequently the soldiers were always at a disadvantage when making raids. The Captain gives the Guards unstinted praise, and states that every man did his duty faithfully, and while at Danville all conducted themselves like gentlemen. Here is additional praise from the Danville Commercial of last evening.

The boys proved themselves to be as orderly and gentlemanly a body of soldiers as ever carried a musket or sword, and made many warm friends while in the city, not all of whom are of the masculine gender, either. They were glad to get away, though, and waved their hats out of the car windows as the trains pulled out.

ON THE DIAMOND.

The Calumets vs. Y. M. C. A. Stopped by Darkness.

Probably the most exciting game of the season was played on the Calumet diamond yesterday afternoon between the Y. M. C. A. and Calumet clubs. In point of runs there were plenty of them scored, and the playing throughout was loose. The game was called late and was interrupted on account of darkness. Baldwin Starr was the umpire. The game ended at the close of the eighth inning when the score was as follows:

Y. M. C. A.	0	3	1	3	1	5	5	2	0—20
Calumets	1	5	6	1	2	1	5	2	0—22

The players and their positions were as follows:

Y. M. C. A.	POSITIONS	CALUMETS
Auer	catcher	Patterson
Becker	pitcher	Hubbard
Dixon	1st base	Hays
Snyder	2d base	C. Schroll
Ely	short stop	Truax
Smith	third base	Gates
Spalding	right field	Freeman
Frazee	center field	Walston

Well Fixed.

The board of supervisors last week, on account of existing troubles in the country, passed a resolution to ask Gov. Altgeld for 200 rifles and 10,000 rounds of ammunition, to be used by the county in case of an emergency. The governor responded favorably and the guns and ammunition were received here Saturday night.—Danville Commercial.

There are two companies of volunteers among the Danville citizens organized to rush to arms in time of riots to protect life and property. A similar movement has frequently been suggested for Decatur, but we have the courageous Guards well equipped, and the Grand Army veterans can be called on in case of a pinch to keep down lawlessness.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—President Cleveland to-day signed the bill admitting Utah as a state.

DEADLY EXPLOSION.

[Special to the REPUBLICAN.]

CHICAGO, July 17.—Near Hazleton, Pa., this morning, by accidental explosion of dynamite, nine men were blown to fragments as they were entering a mine to go to work.

A Mystery.

This morning 3½ miles north of Decatur, on the Bloomington road, Charles Mathias and Al. Kaine, hay haulers, found a pneumatic tire bicycle, almost new, lying at the side of the road; also a new stiff hat with the brand of Race on the inside, the crown dented. The hay haulers were unable to find anybody in that vicinity who could tell anything about the wheel. They brought the hat and wheel to the city. They are at the home of Fred. Mathias, 240 East Bradford street.

STRIKERS WEAKENING.

Statements by President Wickes and Chairman Heathcote.

The admissions of W. T. Heathcote, chairman of the Pullman strikers, as reported in the Chicago papers, indicate that the Pullman men are about ready to go to work. Mr. Heathcote says that he has practically given up hope, the only reason for holding on being that Debs might be able to come to the rescue. He said if Debs would declare the general strike off, the Pullman strike would also be at an end. Chairman Heathcote finds difficulty in keeping the strikers together on account of the diversity of nationalities. The Hollanders, who number about 1200, and the Poles, with an equal number, he said, who together constitute a majority of the Pullman employes, are anxious to return regardless of the feelings of the other nationalities. He says the relief committee has just about enough funds to last three days longer if each family gets only one square meal a day, and there is not much prospect of any more money coming in. It is the probability of starving that brings the men to time.

In reply to a question concerning the starving condition of the former employes and the story of the company's determination to drive them out of its houses for failure to pay rents, Mr. Wickes said: "I do not know anything about the families being on the verge of starvation, but I do know that there is no need for such a condition of affairs. The Pullman company has never said that it would not take back its employes when they are ready to go to work. We will not evict them as tenants. Why, some of the men who went out on the strike owed the company four months' rent before they quit work. They have not made any payments since the strike began, but we do not propose to turn them out. We are willing to act charitably in the matter. As an instance of the company's desire to do the right thing by its employes who have remained loyal Mr. Wickes cited the fact that the 700 men who did not go out have been well taken care of during the strike. They were given positions as watchmen, and some of them were employed as general laborers about the plant and put to work to ballast up some of the tracks in the yards at Pullman. Mr. Wickes said the disposition of the company all the way through the present difficulty has been to treat its employes a good deal better than the employes have treated the company.

One Arthur is worth a million Debses to the workingmen.

Altgeld, Hopkins and Debs are a trio of scabs who will be out of a job in a little while.

The idea of railway employes placing their liberties in the hands of a single man with despotic power to say when and how long and at what wages they can work and when they cannot work, as a means of emancipating workingmen from "wage slavery" when there is no work for millions of our people is an inconsistency without a parallel.

Railway managers, so far as they have places for them, should re-employ old men. They will never again trouble the railway companies, for the simple reason that Mr. Debs has settled the railroad strike business for all time to come by developing the fact that the people—the government—has something to say about tying up inter-state commerce.

It won't avail anything to monkey with the wage question until the system of creating a demand for labor is again inaugurated in this country by a logical protective tariff law; but the Altgelds, the Hopkinses and the Debses are all opposed to such a system. Wages can not be kept up on a falling wage market any more than a railroad can make money when the home market is on the decline.

It should be borne in mind that Debs, without notice to the railway managers, issued a decree that no railroad should haul Pullman cars, and when the managers refused to obey the new czar, he ordered the members of his order to strike in sympathy with the Pullman employes. When Uncle Sam came in and knocked him out as a dictator, he and his henchmen began to cry out about "wage slavery" and "living wages" and arbitration. Debs is not fooling anybody who is sensible and not an official in the A. R. U. under pay.

While it must be admitted that the Wabash employes who left the service of that road on a strike, by doing so, violated a contract made with the road only a few weeks before the strike in which it was stipulated that if there arose any reason for a desire on the part of the men to terminate the agreement they were to give the company 30 days notice, and while it is true that the strike resulted in much damage and annoyance to the company, it is also true that the road owes something to the business men and the farmers for whom the company is a common carrier. A wholesale refusal to take back into its employ the men who struck, might result in serious damage to the business men where these men reside and where they did business, spent their money and contracted debts which they will be unable to pay unless they are reemployed. This is a question that should and will be fairly considered by the company.

Gold Exports.

An article appeared in last week's New York Prices Current, which tells of a conspiracy on the part of England, France, Russia and Germany to force gold out of this country to Europe. The article is no more nor less than a letter from a London banker to a prominent business man in this country in which the story of this monarchial conspiracy to cripple the American republic is told. He says that the United States, a few years ago, had between three and four hundred million dollars of gold in the treasury and that the American publicists and press were agitated over the problem of what we could ever do to relieve ourselves of the incubus of this surplus, and that now the treasury gold is far below one-fourth that amount; that ever since this country was agitated about the surplus, gold began to accumulate in Europe: that since that time Germany has gained gold to the amount of fifty million, England seventy-five million, France one hundred million and Russia one hundred million, total $325,000,000 which is about the sum lost by the United States. The writer insists that these shipments have not been regular to all these governments, but to one a little while and then to another. This he offers as proof of a systematic campaign again the gold of America. He holds that the reason for this conspiracy to cripple the United States grows out of the fact that this country or the success of this form of government is exerting too much influence upon the minds of the people in the old world. He closes by saying:

Because of this very political littleness it is believed by the monarchial conspirators that they will be able to go straight ahead working your embarrassment, through the taking of your gold in greater and greater volume every week, for an indefinite time to come—till, indeed, you are down upon your haunches pleading for mercy. God help you.

The story looks very plausible and brings to mind some things the Englishman has left out of the calculation because of his unfamiliarity with our history. It was in 1884 when we had a large surplus in the treasury, that the Democratic campaigners of that year attacked it, and held that it ought to be in the pockets of the people. Such men as Cleveland, Allen G. Thurman and Tom Hendricks charged that this money had been taken from the pockets of the people by protection and was hoarded up in the government vaults, while the farmers who ought to have it could not pay the mortgage on their farms. These men put the sum at $400,000,000, which was not true, as they estimated in the amount the gold reserve of $100,000,000, and other amounts set apart for a specific purpose.

But it was true that the receipts of the government exceeded the expenditures, but the four years of Cleveland's rule left the government with but little above one hundred million surplus. This change was largely due to an improper and careless administration of the customs, internal revenues and the postoffice department.

When Harrison came in the revenues again increased and millions of bonds were redeemed with the surplus. In addition to this the tariff was revised through the McKinley act and the revenues cut off to a considerable extent so as to make the receipts and expenditures harmonize as near as possible.

Then the conspiracy in Europe began, and the Democratic party in this country became the beneficiary. The conspiracy was to wipe out protection and open the American market to foreign goods. Hundreds of thousands of dollars were contributed by Europe to aid the Democratic party recover the government.

The conspiracy succeeded, business was prostrated in this country and gold began to flow toward Europe; the treasury was depleted and a sale of bonds was forced to replenish it. The American market has been crippled, and as in days prior to 1861, so long as the market is crippled, Europe will demand our gold through a conspiracy to which the Democratic party is a partner. No conspiracy of Europe without a party to it in this country can force our gold out if we legislate for ourselves against the world.

Anarchy—Assassination.

The following from the Arizona Leader, published at Gila Bend, is a timely note in the right direction:

The words, anarchy, assassination, are synonymous in the minds of those who are members of the thoroughly organized body of villains known as the anarchists. Webster describes an anarchist as "one who promotes disorder," and anarchy as "want of government in society; lawlessness; confusion." Not only the chosen officers of the law, but all those who believe the law to be the only protection to society, are the legitimate victims of the anarchists.

In a crowded restaurant, theater, or church sits an official, president, senotor, judge, justice of the peace, or constable. Enter anarchist. The favorite destroyer, dynamite bomb, is thrown, the official in most cases escapes unhurt, but hundreds of good people, men, women, maidens, and children are hurled to death, or maimed and crippled for the rest of their lives, or until another anarchist succeeds in finishing the task of his associate.

It is but a few years back that real anarchy lifted its head in this country. Have you noticed its development?

Who and what are these anarchists? The answer is easy. They are foreigners, the lowest types of their kinds, driven from their own countries because of their insane theories. They find refuge in the only country in the world that will permit and enable them to live and be happy. They are happy only when carrying out the bloody decrees of their order, and as a consequence of their presence with us, we to-day have before us the spectacle of the capital city of the nation in a state of shivery fear. Our large cities, wherein the anarchist makes his home, are paralyzed with fear and seem incapable of dealing with the monster.

In New York City, just as soon as the news came of the cowardly assassination of Carnot, the anarchists held open meetings and expressed their joy and exultation at the success of their Italian comrade. They went further—speeches of the most incendiary kind were made, in which were taught the best and simplest methods of bomb-making, and audiences were urged to follow the example set for them by Booth, Guiteau, Vaillant and the Carnot assassin.

These large cities have laughed at and permitted these meetings, and the publication of anarchist organs long enough. The time to destroy it all was in the beginning of it all. At that time the head could have easily been crushed. It has become an octopus, and the tentacles have reached out in ten thousand directions until they have wound about high public places, and officials of influence and power, who through fear, sympathy, or actual conversion, aid and abet the head and set free the claws and tools unfortunate enough to get trapped in the meshes of law.

It is time now to act. Unless vigorous measures are adopted at once and put into immediate execution, it needs no prophet to fortell that bomb-throwing, the silent knife act, and poison, the three weapons of the anarchist, will in a few years (if not a less time) startle this country as badly as France has been recently startled by these agents.

CITY COUNCIL BUSINESS.

What the Aldermen Did at the Meeting Held Last Night.

Mayor Moffitt and all of the alderman were present at the meeting of the city council held last night.

The petition that a brick sidewalk on the west side of Clayton between Marietta and Orchard streets be not built this year was referred.

In plain words Jules Blackburn gave notice that the use of his building on Franklin street as a calaboose had become an abominable nuisance, and he notified the city to vacate at once. Ald. Johnson suggested that a part of the basement of the court house be used as a city prison, and Ald. Johnson, Knight and Stratton were named as a special committee to make a report.

A petition for the annexation of the following property was read: Commencing at the intersection of Edmond and Woodford street, thence south to the city limits, thence west and north to Edmond street and thence east to the place of beginning. The petition was referred to the Street and Alley committee.

Ald. Drake offered a motion that the city force work 9 hours instead of 10 hours a day at $1.75 a day. Mayor Moffitt declared the motion out of order. Nevertheless there was a little discussion on the point. Ald. Sutton said when he voted to increase the hours of work he did so believing that the city was short of money, but since then tax payers had asked him why he had voted to increase the hours of labor. He was willing to lessen the hours of work if the tax payers were. Ald. Montgomery suggested that the ordinance sets forth that the city shall pay no more than others do for common labor. Hunt & Co. pay $1.25 a day. Brenneman & Co. say they can get all the labor they want at a dollar a day. It was suggested that the matter be referred to the ordinance committee. The reduction of the hours was simply increasing the wages. Ald. Knight reminded the aldermen that the Drake motion had been declared out of order, and the discussion ceased.

The Water and Light committee recommended that one light be taken from each tower except the one on Lincoln square and placed in each ward where most needed, subject to the approval of the aldermen of such ward. This was adopted.

Ex-Engineer Burgess reported extra work done on College street by P. H. Hunt & Co. amounting to $124.42. It was referred to the Public Improvement committee. He also reported that the brick paving on College street from Eldorado to Prairie street was completed. The city's share of the expense is $1,220.33. Referred to the Public Improvement committee.

The water and light committee recommended that a 4-inch water main be laid for 350 feet on Boyd street. The report was adopted.

Ald. Knight, Stratton and Bolen, the committee to estimate the cost of opening Pugh street, reported that the cost would be $1550.

An ordinance was read providing for five-foot brick sidewalks as follows: North side of Condit, from Calhoun to Railroad avenue; east side of Railroad avenue, from Condit to Leafland avenue; north side of Leafland avenue, from Water to Broadway; west side of Clayton, from Marietta to Orchard; north side of Eldorado, from Monroe to the Wabash railroad; east side of Oakland avenue from Main to St. Louis avenue; east side of Haworth avenue from Main to St. Louis avenue; north and south side of Clay from Webster to Peake; north side of Green from Main to College; north and south side of Whitmer from Webster to Peake; west side of North Main from Pugh to Johnson; north side of West Wood from Haworth avenue to a point 119 feet east; north side of West Wood from a point 249 feet east of Haworth avenue east to a point 86 feet from place of beginning; south side of King from Mercer to Vandyke; east side of North Pine from Green to King; west side of Warren south to 11 of Montgomery & Hall's addition; a four foot plank walk on the south side of Leafland avenue from Vandyke to Pine.

It was voted by ordinance that Pugh street from Water to North Park addition be widened. An ordinance was read for the construction of a sewer beginning at the intersection of Cantrell and Broadway and running east to Webster with a 200 foot branch north from that point to the present 24-inch tile on Webster street. The main sewer is to be 48 inches in diameter and is to be constructed of brick, while the branch is to be constructed of 24-inch sewer tile. An ordinance was read providing for an 8-inch sewer connecting with the sewer in the alley between Decatur and Forest street and running on South Monroe street 270 feet.

RESOLUTIONS.

By Bischof and Johnson: That the resolution for a flagman at Sangamon street be rescinded. Adopted.

By Dodd and Montgomery: That an ordinance be prepared for paving West Eldorado from Monroe street to the Wabash; South College street from Macon to Decatur street; West Decatur from Edward to Monroe street. Referred.

By Sutton: That $1000 of the sidewalk and crossing appropriation be set aside for cleaning crossings in the winter. This was amended to read $500 and adopted.

By Drake: That H C Johns be given a rate on stock water at his pasture adjoining Peake street. Referred to the clerk, water inspector and chairman of the water committee to make a rate.

By Johnson and Bischof That the Illinois Central be instructed to pave a regulation turn out on Eldorado street east of the Central track Adopted.

THE OTHER SIDE.

Mr. Boone's Statement of His Connection with Con O'Hara

The article taken from the Springfield Journal and published in these columns last evening, in reference to Con O'Hara and Mr. and Mrs. James Boone, does not give the exact facts as to the business relations between the parties. Mr. Boone says: "The whole story so far as it concerns my wife and myself is false. I did run a saloon and dance room at Springfield, but you can bet your life that it was a first class place. It was frequented by many of the best people of the town, and by many of the state officials whose names I could give. Con O'Hara was never a partner of mine. I quit the place June 1, when I sold out to O'Hara, and he let it run down. I made big money out of it. He did not. The Journal states that we tried to get $10 out of O'Hara. That is a mistake. There was a mortgage on a lot of goods I had bought of W. Y. Sanford. There was a balance of $7 75 due on the mortgage, and when O'Hara's goods were attached, Sanford came to get his furniture. O'Hara had contracted to pay the bill, and the furniture would have been taken out if my wife had not put up her gold watch for the $7.75 in the presence of O'Hara. He was to pay over the money, and when he got $35 I tried to get what was due me. He had said he would pay me but instead he blew in the money on a spree. Finally I came away without getting what is due me. I hold the assigned mortgage, and have a claim against the goods. I did not ask O'Hara or anybody else for $5 to get home. I had money in the bank and soon I arrived in Decatur, and I now live out on West Macon street. I have purchased over $80 worth of goods. I don't know how O'Hara got hurt but I believe he was done up in some Springfield saloon. The last night I was with him I saved him from being clubbed to death more than once."

LESSONS OF THE STRIKE.

Estimates Place the Total Loss at $100,000,000.

NEW YORK, July 16. It is believed that the loss occasioned by the strike has equaled twice the value of the entire property of the Pullman Palace Car Co. The company is capitalized at $30,000,000, and its total assets are $53,000,000.

The president of one of the greatest railroad corporations in the country said to day "The earnings of the railroad companies of the Western roads fell off in two weeks an average of at least 25 per cent. The pay rolls that were stopped will represent a loss to employes of, let us say, at least six times as much as that suffered by the companies. Hundreds of factories were obliged to close from lack of coal or coke. The wages lost in these were five times the amount lost by the manufacturers. The beef companies lost hundreds of thousands, and California and other fruit crops were either temporary or total losses. The following is not an unfair recapitulation of the losses, I think

The U. S. government	$ 1 [illegible]
Loss in earnings of railroads exclusive in Chicago	[illegible]
Loss in earnings of other railroads	[illegible]
Loss by destruction of railway property	[illegible]
Loss to railway employes in wages	[illegible]
Loss in exports, produce and merchandise	[illegible]
Loss on fruit crops	[illegible]
Loss to varied manufacturing concerns	[illegible]
Loss to employes	[illegible]
Loss to merchants on quick goods	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]

"To this must be added loss from what would have been increased summer traffic and manufactured goods for the coming season. The final showing will be easily more than $100,000,000."

The Paris Races

Much interest is being centered in the Paris races which take place at Shoppard's park, July 24th 25th, and 26th—Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. These are the first races in the Eastern Illinois Trotting Circuit this year. The purses are all large which, together with the closeness of the cities to each other in this circuit, and the various towns in it holding their speeding in successive weeks have brought a large number of strings of fine horses from all over the country to make the rounds. The secretary has assured us that never before has Paris had such flattering success for large entries and fast time in trotting and pacing. New buildings have been constructed to accommodate the horses, the track is one of the best in the state and the grounds are convenient and beautiful. There will be three races each day. Low excursion rates on all the railroads insure crowds from every direction. Horses from this locality have been entered.

Won His Case.

M. C. Griffin, law student in the office of Mills Bros., was pitted against Attorney I. D. Walker, before Justice J P. Lichtenberger, on Monday, at Sangamon. It was an action of distress for rent, William Savage vs. William Crossett, and Griffin appeared for the defendant. Everything was all right, except the affidavit which the plaintiff had made. It did not suit Griffin, and he proceeded to deliver an eloquent speech which so affected the justice that he was influenced to decide against the plaintiff, who had to pay the costs.

Labor Leaders Quarreling

St. Joseph (Mo) News. It is now understood that the great labor leaders are quarreling among themselves If this is true the strike is lost It is said that Gompers, of the Federation of Labor, has been enabled to lay up some three hundred thousand dollars during the three or four years he has been at the head of that of that organization Mr Powderly, ex chief, is reputed to be worth half a million dollars. Chief Arther, of the Locomotive Engineers, is a very rich man, and Mr Debs is getting there with both feet Debs is jealous of all the other labor leaders except Sovereign, with whom he seems to have an affinity. It is claimed by well-posted men in labor circles that Debs is being opposed by other strong leaders. They all like their jobs, which are immensely profitable, and view with alarm the possibility of the rise of a rival like Debs Without perfect harmony it will be impossible to win this or any other general strike.

THEY SHOT TO KILL.

Striking Miners Attack Nonunion Negro Substitutes,

SHOOTING THEM DOWN FROM AMBUSH.

The Negroes, Unarmed, Flee in All Directions, but the Fire of the Murderers is Returned with Interest by Armed Guards.

Nonunion Negroes Fired Upon by Strikers.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. July 17—About 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon a large body of men armed with Winchesters were discovered near Slope No 3. Pratt mines, of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railway Co , seven miles from Birmingham. It was the hour when the men at work in the mines come out. The men at work were negroes, who had taken the places of strikers, and the attacking party were striking miners and their sympathizers

As the negroes came out the strikers, who were squatting behind bushes and benches, opened fire The people who heard it supposed it was the gatling guns in the hands of the troops. Several hundred shots were fired before the strikers retired. Guards around the mines returned the fire, but they were few in number

The casualties were

B W Tierce, white guard killed

Negro miner name unknown killed

One of the strikers, a Frenchman named La Flors was badly wounded, and will die Several on both sides were wounded One of the wounded strikers was dragged off by his friends.

It was a deliberate attack by the strikers on the negroes put to work in their places, and they shot to kill. The local military companies were hurried to the scene and are in that neighborhood now All companies which had been here from other cities for a week on account of the railroad strike had been ordered home Sunday night and yesterday afternoon

The Montgomery companies were stopped en route and turned back, and all others will be here this morning for duty in the mining camps

The mining strike has been on since the middle of April and the feeling is growing bitter, being accentuated by the railroad strike. Gov. Jones saw the miners' committee yesterday afternoon and urged them to accept the compromise lately offered, but they declined The operators are offering to open all mines with such labor as they can get, and Gov. Jones is of the opinion that the troops will be required here indefinitely.

The attack yesterday afternoon followed in less than two hours after the departure of the troops The bitterness of the strikers is illustrated by the captured Frenchman He was kneeling behind a coal pen fence, firing his Winchester, when a bullet from a guard knocked him over He raised up and fired again He can not speak a word of English The negroes scattered in all directions when fired upon. Only a few had gotten out of the mines when the firing was commenced, which accounts for the small loss of life.

A Second Battle with Many Casualties.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 17—A second battle was fought at slope No 4 of the Pratt mines simultaneously with that at No. 3, and the total dead reaches six, with at least a score wounded Another mob of strikers had ambushed themselves near the mouth of No. 4, whence the negroes came in box cars

The train was guarded by deputy sheriffs who were placed in the cars and on the engine. The train had proceeded but a short distance from the mine when the party in ambush opened the fire. The first shot went through the window of the engine-cab, flicked some hair from the head of Mine Superintendent J. J Moore, and nearly killed the engineer. The deputies returned the volley with vigor and in a short time the mob began its retreat toward Center Point

Posses of scouts were hastily formed in the vicinity of the mines, and the work of searching for the dead and wounded was entered upon. The miners made their escape, except those unable to walk for their wounds Ten bodies were picked up, of which six were lifeless Many wounded were helped away by their comrades. The names of the negro dead are not known

George Campbell, one of the negro laborers, had his leg broken and a bullet passed through his chin He says the strikers came on him after he was shot down, beat and kicked him, and then fired the bullet through his face.

The remains of the dead were all brought to Birmingham. Great excitement prevails here, the streets being crowded with terror-stricken people.

Every precaution has been taken to guard the mines against further depredations. The third regiment of the State guard has been ordered into camp here and altogether there will be 500 soldiers in this vicinity this morning.

THE HEATHCOLE INTERVIEW.

The Statements Made Denounced as False and Unauthorized.

PULLMAN, Ill , July 17.—Chairman Heathcole's interview, published in Chicago papers yesterday morning, has created intense feeling among the strikers. Meeting after meeting was held yesterday and last night to discuss the attitude of the chairman, and the strikers were unanimous in repudiating the statements made.

At a meeting of the central strike committee, held in Turner hall, Kensington, last night, resolutions were adopted denouncing the statements made as false and unauthorized. It was also announced by the committee's chairman that any letters or communications alleged to have been sent to President Debs asking him to declare the strike off were wholly unauthorized.

Official action will be taken by the committee to-day, when it is likely that Heathcole will be expelled The strikers are greatly excited and there has been considerable talk on the part of individual strikers of lynching the chairman

Collapse of the Switchmen's Mutual Aid Association.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., July 16—A local paper announced this evening that John Nugent, of this city, who owns the rooms that were to be headquarters of the Switchmen's Mutual Aid association, had received written notice from the officers in Chicago that the association had suspended and was defunct on account of recent labor troubles. Mr Nugent was requested to allow them to remove their large safe from the rooms. He finally consented, and will hold the local Business Men's association responsible for two years' rent.

Returned to Work at the Old Rate.

PITTSBURGH, Pa , July 17.—Yesterday the miners employed by the Westminster Coal and Coke Co , acting on the advice of the district officials, returned to work at the thirty-cent rate, the price paid by the firm before the strike was declared The men at both these works have been holding out for the terms of the Columbus compromise

AN AWFUL ACCIDENT.

Four United States Soldiers Killed and Many Wounded

BY AN EXPLOSION OF SHOT AND SHELL

In an Artillery Caisson While Out on Grand Boulevard, Chicago, for Exercise and Drill—Many Civilians Also Wounded.

The Terrible Cannonade Shook the Ground Like an Earthquake, and Created a Scene of Utter Desolation and Ruin.

CHICAGO, July 17.—Exploding shot and shell wrought sickening carnage among soldiers, civilians and horses yesterday afternoon on Grand boulevard, one of Chicago's finest driveways. The bodies of four United States soldiers were pierced by projectiles and torn apart so that they died instantly, being blown far from the scene of slaughter Two of the wounded soldiers are not expected to live, eight more were burned and struck with leaden and wooden missiles and half a dozen more civilians were injured.

The Killed.

Edward Doyle, cannonier, second light artillery, Battery F, from Fort Riley, Kan.; blown from the caisson or ammunition chest, which exploded

Jeremiah Donovan, cannonier same battery: blown from seat alongside of Doyle.

Joseph Giller, farrier, troop B. seventh cavalry. Fort Sheridan; body riddled and torn by shot and pieces of gun carriage

Fred Lotz. wheelhorse driver of Battery F, second artillery, body pierced by shot and wood Died at Michael Reese hospital at 8 p. m

Mortally Wounded.

Martin O'Donnell, cannonier. Battery F, second artillery, body pierced by fragments of wood: burned by powder: taken to Mercy hospital.

Sergt. Lynder, same battery: injuries similar to O'Donnell; burned more seriously: taken to Mercy hospital.

Injured.

W. I. Antis, bugler of Troop B. seventh cavalry, Fort Sheridan; right shoulder shattered by shell: in weak condition and recovery doubtful: taken to Mercy hospital

J. W Allen, cannonier, Battery F, second artillery, upper part of body burned

George Hoffman, sergeant, same battery; chin partly shot away; taken to camp.

Anthony Kane, cannonier same battery; half of ear blown off, taken to camp.

Driver Enke, Battery F, blown from his horse to the ground and head hurt: taken to camp.

Driver Pinowski, same battery: blown from horse; top of head torn away by shot

Cannonier Urquhart, Battery F; face and neck burned by powder, left foot pierced by bullets: wounds dressed at Mercy hospital and taken to camp.

Trooper Huyck, seventh cavalry: blown off horse and rendered deaf; bruised and burned; taken to camp.

Mrs. F. A. Howe, 3931 Grand boulevard; face and head cut by flying glass while sitting at window.

Miss. S. C. Griggs, visiting her mother, Mrs. E. C. Huling, 3950 Grand boulevard, knocked down by explosion; wrist and face cut by glass.

Unknown man and sister, driving on Oakwood boulevard; blown from buggy; man's face cut; taken in carriage to home in South Chicago after wounds were dressed: horse ran away and vehicle demolished.

Another unknown woman was seen lying on the stone sidewalk of Grand boulevard after the disaster, but the extent of her injuries could not be learned, because she left the scene without waiting for medical aid.

Many other citizens who followed the military column were thrown to the earth, more or less bruised by contact with the ground and their hearing temporarily destroyed They were too glad to escape with their lives to wait for reporters to get their names.

At least $25,000 of damage was done to the property of the residents on both sides of Grand boulevard for half a block north of Oakwood boulevard. Houses in adjoining streets were also damaged, principally by broken window and door glass.

The ill-fated body of troops were proceeding south from the lake front camp along Grand boulevard at a trot. Having no rioters to quell or property to protect, the soldiers were out to drill and exercise. Capt. Dodd of Troop F, third cavalry, from Fort Riley, was in command of the mounted column, and was riding in advance of all. Lieut. Lyon, of the same troop, rode beside him.

Capt. Varnum of Troop B, seventh cavalry probably owes his life to the fact that he had left his command temporarily, and was riding abreast of Capt. Dodd when the terrible cannonade shook the ground like an earthquake. Next to the three officers came Lieut. Tate, in command of troop F, third cavalry, from Fort Riley, comprising forty men.

The Fort Riley cavalrymen were immediately followed by Troop H, of the sixth cavalry, from Fort Niobrara, Neb., Lieut. Hyer and forty men.

The third detachment in the column was the ill-starred section of Battery F, second light artillery, from Fort Riley, Lieut. Gayle and fourteen men, bearing two Hotchkiss field pieces and four caissons filled with shrapnel, common shell and bags of powder, trailing after the guns. The rear was brought up by Troop B, seventh cavalry, from Fort Sheridan, in command for the time by Lieut. Tompkins.

When within 100 feet of Oakwood boulevard, flanked on each side by the elegant homes of the rich, there crushed on the cars of soldiers and civilians a roar like a mighty burst of thunder, followed in an instant by a succession of sharp explosions.

The half-dazed soldiers in the rear of the limber caisson saw smoke and flame belch from the receptacle for the death-dealing missiles. Men, horses and wheels, caisson and other parts of the battery rose before their horrified gaze high in the air. The exploding powder and shot inclined to the rear, which accounts for the escape of all the cavalryem from the third and sixth cavalry. The artillerymen received the brunt of the explosion. being directly in the rear of the deadly missiles and ignited powder, which burst from the caisson, sending fragments in all directions.

Donovan and Doyle were doomed to a death which carried with it no suffering, not even an instant of time to realize their fate. They were sitting on the caisson which exploded. Donovan was blown through the air over trees fifty feet high a distance of 500 feet over a vacant lot, drooping on the Union stock yards railway tracks. Part of one limb was torn off and picked up in the corner lot. There was hardly a shred of clothing left on his body, and the mutilation was so horrible that he could not be recognized It was known that he was blown in that direction. His companion, Doyle, was hurled 300 feet across the intersection of Oakwood boulevard on the opposite side of Grand boulevard The mangled. lifeless body came in contact with a high fence, on top of which were a lot of stuffed bears, the advertisement of a firm of furriers. Over these bears fifty feet from the ground, the force of the explosion carried a wheel and other parts of the gun carriage, 500 feet away from the bloody scene.

Galler, the farrier of the seventh cavalry troop, was riding in the second column behind the artillery The shot and shell which rendered him a corpse entered him over the heads of the troopers in the front ranks Part of the leaden load which tore through Galler's head took off half of Kane's ear and tore a hole in his hat as a memento of the horrible tragedy

Lead and wood pierced the body of Fred Lotz, the wheel-horse driver nearest the exploding ammunition, and killed the animal

All the eight artillery horses are dead. The four which pulled the first gun were hurled in front of the exploding powder and shells to a grassy part of the boulevard 100 feet away Three were killed outright, being shot through and through The fourth had to be put out of his misery. The four horses drawing the second gun were hurled to one side of the boulevard on the grass and all instantly killed. Galler's horse was shot from under him, and his life had to be taken soon after his master had been blown into eternity

Confusion came with the first sound of the explosion. Commanding officers and men of the ranks could not realize what it was. The first thought in the minds of many survivors was that revengeful railroad strikers or their sympathizers had hurled a bomb in their midst, as they were close on the stock yards railroad tracks.

The first word of command came from Capt. Dodd, for the cavalry to wheel out of the path of the flying projectiles. The movement of the Indian-fighting cavalrymen was more like a stampede. Fortunately, there was plenty of room for every horse and rider, or there would probably have been some fatal collisions. The drivers of the artillery horses could not get out of the way. All the horses were dead or dying.

The beautiful boulevard. with its double rows of stately trees on each side, seemed to have suddenly become the arena of a bloody conflict between armed forces. Blood from man and beast lying dead or wounded on the grassy plots on each side flowed in rivulets and mingled with the heaps of blood-stained trappings and gun carriages.

Twenty-six powder-stained percussion shots which had escaped the explosion lay in a double row on the green sward guarded by police, as a slight concussion would have caused a second calamity.

Every soldier stood at his post under the fire of the artillery, and those who were unhurt came quickly to succor those who were not beyond earthly aid before the echo of the last explosion had died away.

Civilian surgeons, hearing the deafening roar, hurried to the scene with appliances, and the wounds of the living were soon roughly dressed Military surgeons followed, when the news of the disaster to the troops reached Camp Miles.

Wagon loads of police came flying to the scene to restore order and keep the gathering thousands of civilians from encroaching on the scene of carnage. The remains of Donovan, Boyle and Galler. were picked up and removed in the police ambulances to the Hyde Park morgue. Ambulances took the wounded to Michael Reese and Mercy hospitals in ambulances while those whose injuries were only slight were removed to the camp.

The cavalrymen left their horses at a safe distance and joined their comrades of the seventh in the work of caring for the wounded and clearing the debris from the roadway. Troopers with drawn swords and mounted park policemen kept the thousands of curious people to the sidewalks until the march of the saddened soldiers to camp began. New horses and new drivers had to be hired to draw the pieces of artillery from the scene of horror.

Relief for the Settlers on the Des Moines River Lands.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—A favorable report was made to the senate yesterday morning on Senator Allison's bill for the relief of the settlers on the Des Moines river lands. The bill carries an appropriation of $350,000.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON July 16—The final touch to the act for the admission of Utah as a state, so far as the two houses of congress are concerned, was applied by the vice-president to-day, when he attached his signature to that act It was afterwards sent to the president for his approval

The house bill to regulate dealings in options and futures was advanced one stage in being taken from the table (where it has been lying for two or three weeks) and referred to the committee on agriculture

The rapid progress which has distinguished the senate for the past two weeks in connection with the annual appropriation bills was still further illustrated to-day in the finishing up and passing of the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill, and in the passage, with very little consumption of time of the district of Columbia bill, and in the reporting of the agricultural bill to the senate

This left the status of the fifteen appropriation bills at the close of to-day's sessions as follows In the hands of the president the postoffice bill being enrolled pensions military academy in conference fortifications diplomatic and consular and navy, passed by both houses but not in conference river and harbor legislative. executive and judicial district of Columbia before the senate. agricultural on the calendar Indian not yet reported to the senate sundry, civil and general appropriation

Adjourned at 6 05 until to-morrow

HOUSE

With less than half an hour's discussion and with practically no opposition the house today adopted the following resolution offered by Mr McCreary

Resolved That the house of representatives indorses the prompt and vigorous efforts of the president and his administration to suppress lawlessness restore order and prevent improper interference with the enforcement of the laws of the United States and with the transportation of the mails of the United States and with interstate commerce and pledges the president hearty support, and deems the success that has already attended his efforts cause for public and general congratulation

The resolution was opposed by Mr Pence (pop, Col) and conditionally by Mr Bland, who denounced the actions of the federal officials in his own state as wholly unnecessary

Mr Pence criticised the attitude and action of Attorney-General Olney toward and upon the recent troubles charging that he had selected a railroad attorney of Chicago an special assistant district attorney to prosecute the strikers and their leaders in that city He also referred to the charges made in democratic papers that Olney was the representative of corporations and trusts as a reason why he should not be in the position he occupies and why his action should not be approved

The resolution was advocated by Messrs McCreary and Catchings and passed by an overwhelming viva voce vote Efforts to secure a call of the yeas and nays were unavailing Republicans took no part in the debate

Senate amendments to the naval appropriation bill were nonconcurred in and the bill was sent to conference, and Messrs Cummings, Geisenhainer and Dolliver were appointed members on the part of the house

The rest of the day's session was spent in discussing the bill reported from the committee on the judiciary to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy It was a purely voluntary measure and intended as explained by the author, Mr. Bailey to harmonize proceedings in bankruptcy cases in the several states The bill as reported by the committee was ordered to be engrossed but on its passage the vote of a quorum could not be obtained and the house at 5 55 o clock adjourned until tomorrow

NOT ON THE PROGRAMME.

Sudden Insanity of a Negro Delegate to the Christian Endeavor Convention.

CLEVELAND, O., July 16.—This afternoon while the Union depot was crowded with thousands of Christian Endeavor delegates seeking an exit from the city, a colored man created a sensation by divesting himself of all his clothing and running through the crowd. He took refuge in the wash room and locked the doors. Officer Cantellon tried to climb over the transom but was knocked down by a shoe thrown by the maniac which struck the officer full in the face

The door was forced open, the man wrapped in a blanket, taken to Central station and placed in a padded cell. His friends identified him as G. Walter, of 1630 Fifth street, Washington He has lately been attending college at Oberlin, O., and came to Cleveland as a Christian Endeavor delegate. While at the depot he suddenly became insane and his actions created almost a panic

A New Race Track Dedicated.

DETROIT, Mich., July 17.—The new track of the Detroit Driving club at Grosse Pointe was dedicated yesterday, the occasion being the opening of the Blue Ribbon meeting. There was no ceremonies attending the dedication other than the raising of an American flag. The weather was perfect, but the new track was fully two seconds clow. LAST evening the fire department was called to the furniture factory by a supposed fire at that point. It was a false alarm. The alarm came from the office of the county treasurer, and Mr. Montgomery in good faith sent it in. He saw a great volume of fire belching upward, but later it was learned that the flames issued from the furnace stack at the Union Iron Works foundry north of the factory. As Montgomery saw it he was dead sure the furniture factory was on fire.

A ROW OF BARNS BURNED.

Destruction on Mason Street in the Alley—The Losses.

Six different barns in the alley between Central avenue and Mason street were destroyed by fire between 12:30 and two o'clock this morning. The fire was of incendiary origin without doubt. It started in a shed on the C. J. Schaniel place and spread with great rapidity. The fire department turned out and after they got water did effective work in confining the fire and protecting adjacent dwellings from destruction. The losses are as follows.

Charles J. Schaniel, contracting carpenter: barn and contents; also one horse valued at $150; walnut lumber worth $50; three chests of tools, one the property of Lee Baker, all worth $150; surrey and new spring wagon; one cushion tire bicycle, the property of Baker; a boy's wheel, besides 150 feet of rope, block and tackle and other articles. Insurance $300. Loss about $800.

B. K. Durfee's barn, leased by James Garrow, the pump man, who lost a lot of valuable articles in the stable besides a span of mules by cremation. Mr. Garrow got four horses out of a barn on his own lot. Mr. Garrow had no insurance.

Z. Taylor Blaine's barn was wrecked.

Dr. J. M. Blythe's barn was burned; loss $250: insurance $125. Mr. Blythe managed to get his buggy, road cart and horse out of the barn before the roof fell in.

The Rev. L. Field's barn was destroyed, entailing a loss of over $100.

J. Frank Ebert suffered a loss of $200, covered by insurance.

Mrs. Jane Sanderson lost shed filled with hay.

ANOTHER FIRE.

The D. S. McGurthey paint and carriage shop at 344 West Cerro Gordo street was discovered on fire at 2:15 this morning, and the firemen had to make another run. They saved part of the shop. The loss is over $400, partly insured. The vehicles in the shop belonged to C. W. Battles, W. T. Downing, J. Moran and Bert Humphrey. Some were scorched. Cause of fire unknown.

Ruddock. The estate consists of land in Missouri and personal property in Macon county, Ill. All of the property is bequeathed to the widow during her lifetime. Football.

An effort is being made to arouse the interest in football, and steps are being taken to organize an eleven. Anyone who wishes to play football is requested to be at the pasture in the rear of Chas. Ewing's residence on Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock when an organization will be perfected. Some of the players have been assigned positions in an eleven as follows: Lute Roby, center rush; Will McBride, right guard; Tyler Meriweather left guard; D. Y. Stafford, right tackle; Fred Stoner, left tackle; Harry Patterson, left end; Will Armstrong, right end; Bruce Chenoweth, right half back; Thord Ewing, left half back; John Maus, full back; Reaves Scruggs, quarter back.

The Sewers.

Sewer Inspector Sampson is to-day engaged in flushing the sewers. He states that the scarcity of rain has rendered the sewers foul, but the work put on them to-day and to-morrow will make them all right.

THE WABASH.

Nothing New in the Local Situation—The Pay Car.

Everything is very quiet to-day at the Union Depot and the men are still "watching and waiting for their jobs," as one remarked this morning. Many have abandoned all hope of getting back and are leaving for other parts of the country.

General Foreman Needham put on about a dozen additional men to work this morning in the local shops. He stated this morning that he would not increase his force until about August 1st, although he had plenty of work for a much larger force.

The ex employes are still standing around in small crowds discussing the situation and the probability of their returning to work.

It was stated this morning that the pay car would probably be here on Friday, as they commenced the paying off of employes at St. Louis yesterday. Many are waiting for its arrival in order to get out of the city.

A well-known engineer this morning stated that the fight on the engineers was the hottest, although so far none of them had received their time.

A PROMOTION.

The following bulletin was posted in the master mechanic's office at Decatur this morning:

SPRINGFIELD, July 16, 1894.

Mr. J. W. Kennedy has been appointed night foreman at Decatur, and his orders will be obeyed accordingly.

S. W. JEFFERS, M. M.

Mr. Kennedy entered train service on the Wabash in 1872 under K. H. Wade, trainmaster, and has filled the positions of baggageman, conductor, station and express agent, operator, and has been for the past five years chief clerk in assistant master mechanic's office at Decatur.

WABASH FORCES COMPLETE.

SPRINGFIELD, July 16.—The Wabash railroad to-day resumed work in all departments, the shops opening with full forces everywhere. Master of Motive Power Barnes said the company had 725 new men employed in the locomotive department, including engineers and firemen, and that enough strikers had returned to work to make the full equipment of 950 men.

UGLY AT DANVILLE.

Two non-union men were assaulted at Danville last night, but there were no arrests. More trouble is feared.

WAS IT MURDER?

Con. O'Heir Died at the State Capital on Monday.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., July 16—Con. H. O'Heir, who came here from Decatur about six weeks ago and opened a saloon and wine room, was found unconscious in a small shed in the rear of the Lone Star saloon on Jefferson street yesterday morning, and died at St. John's hospital to-day. The Lone Star is a tough resort and Matt and Tom Heffernan and Mickey Keefe, who hang about the place, which is kept by Tom Heffernan, are in jail charged with murder. Tom Heffernan has a broken hand, and Chief Maloney has evidence which goes to show that O'Heir was murdered. The latter has a wife and five children at Decatur.

The remains of O'Heir have been sent to Havana on the Illinois river for interment. The statement that he had been brought to Decatur last evening was a mistake.

ON STRIKES AND MOBS.

Archbishop Ireland in Chicago Gives Expression to Patriotic Views.

In the course of an interview in Chicago Sunday, Archbishop Ireland, of St. Paul, speaking on strikes and mobs, gave utterance to patriotic sentiments. He said in part:

"There can be no hesitation to bring in the help of the repressive powers of society when property is menaced. Only savages or men who for the time being are turned into savages will burn or destroy property, whether it be the factory of the rich man or the poor man's cottage, a railroad car or a national building. More criminal and more inexcusable yet is the act of murdering human beings or of endangering their lives. Labor, too, must learn the lesson that the liberty of the citizen is to be respected. One man has the right to desert from work, but he has no right to drive another man from work. He who respects not the liberty of others shows himself unworthy of his own liberty and incapable of citizenship in a free country. Never can riots and mob rule and lawless depredation be tolerated. The country that permits them signs its death warrant.

Riots and mob rule such as have occurred in Chicago do immense harm to the cause of labor and set back its advance for whole decades of years. Labor thereby loses the earnest sympathy of thousands of friends and gives courage and triumph to its enemies. Worse yet, the principle of popular government suffers. It is no wonder that, reading of the occurrences in America, Europeans announce that the republic is a failure and that strong anarchy only can hold society together. Nowhere on earth has the poor man liberty, civil, social, and industrial, as that which he enjoys in America. Are those liberties to be used in tearing down the republic which blesses and protects them?

"I am far from saying that labor has not had its grievances in America or that redress must not be sought. I would not respect the laborer who seeks not to enjoy all his rights and to improve his condition. But all this must be done within the lines of social order and law. The remedy for these ills is a healthy public opinion and fair public legislation, and all legitimate efforts in these directions, whether by single act or united force, are laudable. Labor has made great progress in the recent past; it must not be too hasty. Time and patience are requisites to final success.

"As to strikes, I repeat the words of a labor leader, T. V. Powderly, 'they are nearly always failures, and should scarcely ever be resorted to, even when most securely guarded from wrong doing.' The workman, even when he apparently gains his purpose, finds on computation that he has suffered severe financial losses and has weakened his chances for future employment. Besides, strikes affect the great public of America as well as the employer, and workmen should consider the rights of this public, whose moral support, moreover, the cause of labor sorely needs.

"For my own part I believe the large number of men who join strikes are more to be pitied than blamed. They are led on by irresponsible and tyrannous chiefs. Labor unions have great value, but one marked evil in them is that they put the liberties of tens of thousands in the keeping of one man, or of a few who become their absolute masters, their despotic czars."
